Introduction

The mission of the North Carolina State Board of Education is that every public school student will graduate from high school globally competitive for work and postsecondary education and prepared for life in the 21st Century. This mission requires a new vision of school leadership and a new set of skills that school social workers must use daily in order to help their students learn 21st Century content and master skills they will need when they graduate from high school and enroll in higher education or enter the workforce or the military.

North Carolina Professional School Social Work Standards

The North Carolina Professional School Social Work Standards are the basis for school social Worker preparation, evaluation, and professional development. Colleges and universities are changing their programs to align with these standards; a new school social worker evaluation instrument has been created; and professional development is taking on a new look based on these Standards. Each of these will include the skills and knowledge needed for 21st Century teaching and learning.

Intended Purpose of the Standards

The North Carolina Standards for School Social Work have been developed as a guide for school social workers as they continually improve their effectiveness. It is incumbent upon the school social worker to provide services as part of a comprehensive multidisciplinary team with complementary knowledge, skills, and experiences.

The school social worker standards will:

• Guide professional development as school social workers move forward in the 21st Century so that school social workers can attain the skills and knowledge needed;
• Provide the focus for schools and districts as they support, monitor and evaluate their school social workers; and
• Assist higher education programs in the development of content and requirements of School Social Work education curricula.

Organization of the Standards

Standard: The Standard is the broad category of the school social worker’s knowledge and skills.

Summary: The summary provides explicit descriptions of the Standard’s content.

Practices: The practices define the various tasks undertaken to demonstrate the Standard. The list of practices is not meant to be exhaustive.

Artifacts: The artifacts are documentation of standard practices the school social worker might include as evidence in meeting the Standards.

These standards are intended for use by North Carolina public schools and local education agencies that employ school social workers. The State Board of Education Mission and Goals; State Board of Education Policies QP-C-003 and QP-C-006; State General Statutes 115C-333 and 115C-335; North Carolina Standards for the Preparation of School Social Workers approved by the State Board of Education on November 3, 2005; select

Framework for 21st Century Learning

The Partnership for 21st Century Skills has developed a vision for 21st Century student success in the new global economy. The elements described in this section as “21st Century student outcomes” (represented by the rainbow in Exhibit 1) are the skills, knowledge, and expertise students should master to succeed in work and life in the 21st Century.

Exhibit 1. 21st Century Student Outcomes and Support Systems

Core Subjects and 21st Century Themes

Mastery of core subjects and 21st Century themes is essential for students in the 21st Century. Core subjects include English, reading/language arts, world languages, arts, mathematics, economics, science, geography, history, government, and civics.
We believe school must move beyond a focus on basic competency in core subjects promoting understanding of academic content at much higher levels by weaving 21st Century interdisciplinary themes into core subjects:

- Global Awareness
- Financial, Economic, Business, and Entrepreneurial Literacy
- Civic Literacy
- Health Literacy

Learning and Innovation Skills

Learning and innovation skills are what separate students who are prepared for increasingly complex life and work environments in 21st Century and those who are not. They include:

- Creativity and Innovation
- Critical Thinking and Problem Solving
- Communication and Collaboration

Information, Media, and Technology Skills

People in the 21st Century live in a technology and media-driven environment, marked by access to an abundance of information, rapid change in technology tools, and the ability to collaborate and make individual contributions on an unprecedented scale. - Initiative and Self-Direction
- Social and Cross-Cultural Skills

- Leadership and Responsibility

21st Century Support Systems

Developing a comprehensive framework for 21st Century learning requires more than identifying specific skills, content knowledge, expertise, and literacies. An innovative support system must be created to help students master the multidimensional abilities required of them in the 21st Century. The Partnership has identified five critical support systems that ensure student mastery of 21st Century skills:

- 21st Century Standards
- Assessment of 21st Century Skills
- 21st Century Curriculum and Instruction
- 21st Century Professional Development
- 21st Century Learning Environments

The intended purpose of the North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation Process is to assess the school social worker’s performance in relation to the North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards and to design a plan for professional growth. The principal or a designee (hereinafter “principal”) will conduct the evaluation process in which the school social worker actively participate through the use of self-assessment, reflection, presentation of artifacts, and classroom demonstration(s).

A local board shall use the North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards and North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation Process unless it develops an alternative evaluation that is properly validated and that includes standards and criteria similar to those in the North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards and North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation Process.

The North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation Process includes the following components:

Component 1: Training

Before participating in the evaluation process, all school social worker, principals and peer evaluators must complete training on the evaluation process.

During observations, the evaluator shall note the school social worker’s performance in relation to applicable standards on the appropriate rubric for evaluating the school support staff member. Each formal observation should last at least forty-five minutes or an entire session or activity.

Component 6: Post-Observation Conference

The principal shall conduct a post-observation conference no later than ten school days after each formal observation. During the post-observation conference, the principal and school social worker shall discuss and document on the rubric the strengths and weaknesses of the school social worker performance during the observed lesson.

Component 7: Summary Evaluation Conference and Scoring the Summary Rating Form

Prior to the end of the school year and in accordance with LEA timelines, the principal shall conduct a summary evaluation conference with the school social worker. During the summary evaluation conference the principal and school social worker shall discuss the school social worker’s self-assessment, the most recent Professional Growth Plan, the components of the North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation Process completed during the year, classroom observations, artifacts submitted or collected during the evaluation process and other evidence of performance on the rubric.

At the conclusion of the North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation Process, the principal shall:
A. Give a rating for each element in the rubric;
B. Make a written comment on any element marked Not Demonstrated,
C. Give an overall rating of each standard in the rubric,
D. Provide the school social worker with the opportunity to add comments to the School Social Worker Summary Rating Form,
E. Review the completed School Social Worker Summary Rating Form with the school social worker, and
F. Secure the school social worker’s signature on the Record of School Social Worker Evaluation Activities and School Social Worker Summary Rating Form.

Component 8: Professional Development Plans

School social workers shall develop a Professional Growth Plan designed to serve as a guide for improving their performance during the subsequent school year. At a minimum, such a plan shall outline the standards and elements on which improvement is needed, goals to be accomplished, activities to be completed, and a timeline for completing all activities and/or achieving goals. The Professional Growth Plan should be discussed with and approved by the evaluator as the final step in the evaluation process.

Individual Growth Plans

School social workers who are rated at least “Proficient” on all Standards on the School Social Worker Summary Rating Form shall develop an Individual Growth Plan designed to improve performance on specifically identified standards and elements.

Monitored Growth Plans

A school social worker shall be placed on a Monitored Growth Plan whenever he or she:

A. Is rated “Developing” on one or more standard(s) on the School Social Worker Summary Rating Form; and
B. Is not recommended for dismissal, demotion or nonrenewal.

A Monitored Growth Plan shall, at a minimum, identify the standards and elements to be improved, the goals to be accomplished and the activities the school social worker should undertake to achieve proficiency, and a timeline which allows the school social worker one school year to achieve Proficiency. A Monitored Growth Plan that meets these criteria shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 115C-333(b).

Directed Growth Plans

A school social worker shall be placed on a Directed Growth Plan whenever he or she:

A. Is rated
   1. “Not Demonstrated on any Standard on the School Social Worker Summary Rating Form; or
   2. Developing on one or more Standards on the School Social Worker Summary Rating Form for two sequential years, and
B. Is not recommended for dismissal, demotion or nonrenewal.

The Directed Growth Plan shall, at a minimum, identify the standards and elements to be improved, the goals to be accomplished, the activities to be completed to achieve Proficiency, a timeline for achieving Proficiency within one school year or such shorter time as determined by the LEA. A Directed Growth Plan that meets those criteria shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 115C-333(b). North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation Process.

Effective Dates and Effect on Licensing and Career Status

Effective with the 2013-14 school year, all school social workers in North Carolina will be evaluated using this policy unless a local board develops an alternative evaluation that is properly validated and that includes standards and criteria similar to those in the North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards and North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation Process in which case the local board shall use that instrument.

Beginning School Social Workers
Effective 2013-14, beginning school social workers must be rated Proficient on all five North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards on the most recent School Social Worker Summary Rating Form in order to be eligible for the Standard Professional 2 License.

Probationary School Social Workers
Effective 2013-14, a principal must rate a probationary school social worker as Proficient on all five North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards on the most recent School Social Worker Summary Rating Form before recommending that school social worker for career status.

Career-Status School Social Workers
A career-status school social worker participates in a full evaluation process every year. This means the principal shall conduct at least three observations, including at least one formal observation and two other observations, either formal or informal, and rate all elements and all standards on the Summary Rating Form.

Purposes of the Evaluation Process

The school social worker performance evaluation process will:

- Serve as a measurement of performance for individual school social workers.
- Serve as a guide for school social workers as they reflect upon and improve their effectiveness.
- Serve as the basis for the improvement of professional practice.
- Focus the goals and objectives of schools and districts as they support, monitor, and evaluate their school social workers.
- Guide professional development programs for school social workers.
- Serve as a tool in developing coaching and mentoring programs for school social workers.
- Inform higher education institutions as they develop the content and requirements for school social worker training programs.

Responsibilities of school social workers and their evaluators, as they complete the evaluation process, are as follows:

School Social Worker Responsibilities:

- Know and understand the North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards.
• Understand the North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation Process.
• Prepare for, and fully participate in, each component of the evaluation process.
• Gather data, artifacts, and evidence to support performance in relation to standards and progress in attaining goals.
• Develop and implement strategies to improve personal performance/attain goals.

Principal/Evaluator Responsibilities:
• Know and understand the North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards.
• Supervise the school social worker evaluation process and ensure that all steps are conducted according to the approved process.
• Identify the school social worker’s strengths and areas for improvement and make recommendations for improving performance.
• Ensure that the contents of the School Social Worker Summary Evaluation Form contain accurate information and accurately reflect the school social worker’s performance.
• Develop and supervise implementation of action plans as appropriate.

Rubric for Evaluating North Carolina School Social Workers

The following rubric was developed to align with and exemplify the North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards I-V approved by the North Carolina State Board of Education in September 2012. The rubric should be used in conjunction with the standards descriptions. The principal will use the rubric during observations to check descriptors that describe levels of performance, and by the school social worker during self-assessment. Together, these materials form the core of the North Carolina School Social Worker Evaluation process.

After all observations have been completed, school social worker performance will be noted as follows:

- Not Demonstrated: School social worker did not demonstrate competence on or adequate growth toward achieving standard(s) of performance. (Note: If the Not Demonstrated rating is used, the principal/evaluator must comment about why it was used.)
- Developing: School social worker demonstrated adequate growth toward achieving standard(s) during the period of performance, but did not demonstrate competence on standard(s) of performance.
- Proficient: School social worker demonstrated basic competence on standard(s) of performance.
- Accomplished: School social worker exceeded basic competence on standard(s) of performance most of the time.
- Distinguished: School social worker consistently and significantly exceeded basic competence on standard(s) of performance.

The developing school social worker may exemplify the skills expected of a school social worker who is new to the profession or an experienced school social worker who is working in a new content area or grade level, or who needs a new skill in order to meet the standard. A proficient school social worker must exhibit the skills and knowledge described under the Developing header as well as those under Proficient. Likewise, a distinguished school social worker exhibits all of the skills and knowledge described for that element across the entire row. The Not Demonstrated rating should be used when the school social worker is performing below expectations and is not making adequate growth toward becoming proficient on the element. This rating is also used when the principal is not able to check any of the descriptors for the element being rated. If a school social worker is rated as Not Demonstrated, then a comment must be made as to why.

Completing the Rubric and the Summary Rating Form

Self-Assessment

Early in the school year, the school social worker will complete a self-assessment based on the Rubric for Evaluating North Carolina School Social Workers. The self-assessment is a personal reflection about one’s professional practice. It should be completed without input from others. The purposes of the self-assessment are to provide the school social worker an opportunity to reflect on his/her capabilities with respect to achieving the state’s standards of performance and to contextualize anticipated levels of performance during the school year. As a part of this process, the school social worker should consider past performance as well as the school... characteristics for the current school year. These two factors will help the school social worker articulate professional development, coaching, and mentoring needs in order to maintain or improve performance.

At the discretion of the school social worker, the self-assessment ratings may be used as the basis for discussions with the evaluator in order to clarify performance expectations, set goals, plan professional development and program changes, or provide input to the final, end-of-year ratings.

The school social worker should complete the rubric by checking descriptors that characterize professional practices in evidence as a part of his/her daily work. The school social worker should complete the self-assessment at the beginning of the school year and update it frequently throughout the year to reflect changes to either personal performance or the school context.

Completing the Rubric Based on Observations

The evaluator will complete the Rubric for Evaluating North Carolina School Social Workers during formal and informal observations, as well as through reviews of artifacts. The evaluator checks descriptors that are observed during the session/lesson, or as a result of review of artifacts and additional evidence. If the evaluator is not able to mark any of the descriptors for an element, then the Not Demonstrated column is used. In such a case, the evaluator must write a comment about the school social worker’s performance and include suggestions for improvement. During a post-observation conference, the evaluator and school social worker discuss and document the descriptors on which the school social worker has demonstrated performance as well as those on which performance was not demonstrated and for which no additional evidence has been provided.

The evaluator should conduct at least one formal observation of the school social worker’s performance. Additional informal observations may be conducted throughout the year to supplement information gained through the formal observation and to observe elements for which additional information is needed in order to adequately and accurately rate the school social worker’s performance.

Determining Rating Levels After Completing the Rubric

The school social worker and evaluator should independently score each element within a standard to determine the level of performance for that element. The school social worker scores the rubric as a part of the self-assessment process and the evaluator scores it as a result of observations, artifact reviews, and other inputs. Each of the elements should be scored separately, and the individual element scores will determine the overall score for the standard.

Each element will be scored separately, regardless of whether the assessment is completed by the school social worker or the evaluator. The rater will then examine the individual element scores for each standard to determine the overall score for that standard. To determine individual element ratings, the rater should begin with the left-hand column and mark each descriptor that describes the performance of the school social worker during the period for which he or she is being evaluated. If the rater is not able to mark any of the descriptors for an element, then the Not Demonstrated column is used. In such a case, the rater must write a comment incorporating suggestions for improving performance.

The rating for each descriptor is the lowest rating for which all descriptors are marked and all descriptors below that rating are marked. As illustrated in the example on page 28, the school social worker would be rated as Proficient on element a, “School social workers demonstrate leadership in the school,” even though at least one descriptor for Proficient, Accomplished, and Distinguished was marked. This is because Proficient is the highest rating for which all descriptors were marked and all descriptors below it were marked. Likewise, in the example on page 29, the school social worker would be rated as Proficient on element b, “School social workers enhance the school social work profession,” and on each of the remaining elements. This is likely to result in an overall rating of Proficient for Standard 1.

Formal and informal observations of the school social worker’s performance should be conducted throughout the year. Overall ratings for standards should not be determined until the end of the year during the Summary Evaluation Conference. When an school social worker is rated as Developing or Not Demonstrated on any element or standard during the Summary Evaluation Conference, the evaluator should strongly encourage the school social worker to develop a goal to address the area(s) where proficiency has not been reached.

Determining the school social worker’s overall standard ratings involves determining the ratings for individual elements. The evaluator should score all elements within a standard to determine the level of performance for that standard.

Overall Rating for Standard V
Glossary

Action Plan—A plan developed by a principal/supervisor with input from the school social worker for the purpose of articulating specific actions and outcomes needed in order to improve the school social worker’s performance. Action plans are developed and administrated under guidelines provided by each LEA.

Artifact—A product resulting from a school social worker’s work. Artifacts are natural by-products of a y’s work and are not created for the purpose of satisfying evaluation requirements. Artifacts are used only when the evaluator and y disagree on the final rating. School social workers may use them as exemplars of their work. Examples of artifacts include these:

1. Daily Plans—School social worker’s daily plans that demonstrate integration of 21st Century skills and coverage of North Carolina’s Standard Course of Study.

2. Professional Development—Staff development, based on research, data, practice and reflection that focuses on deepening knowledge and pedagogical skills in a collegial and collaborative environment.

3. Student Achievement Data—Student achievement/testing data available from the North Carolina School Report Card (see www.ncschoolreportcard.org).

4. Student Dropout Data—Data about grade 9–12 students who drop out of high school. (See www.ncpublicschools.org/research/dropouts/reports).

5. School Improvement Plan—A plan that includes strategies for improving student performance, how and when improvements will be implemented, use of state funds, requests for waivers, etc. Plans are in effect for no more than three years. School social workers should be able to demonstrate their participation in the development of the plan and/or their active support of the plan.

6. School Improvement Team—A team made up of the school executive and representatives of administration, instructional personnel, instructional support personnel, school social worker, and parents of children enrolled in the school. The team’s purpose is to develop a school improvement plan to strengthen student performance.

Code of Ethics for North Carolina Educators—The standards of professional conduct required of educators. (See Appendix A.)

Code of Professional Practice and Conduct for North Carolina Educators—The uniform standards of professional conduct for licensed professional educators. (See Appendix A.)

Data—Factual information used as the basis for reasoning, discussion, or planning.

Evaluator—The person responsible for overseeing and completing the school social worker evaluation process. This is usually the school principal, but it may be someone who is designated by the principal to assume these responsibilities.
Evidence—Documents that demonstrate or confirm the work of the person being evaluated and support the rating on a given element.

Formal Evaluation Process—The process of evaluating a school social worker using the following essential components:

1. Training—Before participating in the evaluation process, all school social workers, principals, and peer evaluators must complete training on the evaluation process.

2. Orientation—Within two weeks of a school social worker’s first day of work in any school year, the principal will provide the school social worker with a copy of, or directions for, obtaining access to a copy of the following: a) Rubric for Evaluating North Carolina school social workers, b) state board policy governing evaluations, and c) a schedule for completing all the components of the evaluation process. Copies may be provided by electronic means. While a formal meeting is not required, supervisors may choose to hold this orientation as a group meeting at the beginning of each school year and/or individually as staff are added throughout the year.

3. School Social Worker Self-Assessment—Using the Rubric for Evaluating North Carolina School Social Workers, the school social worker shall rate his or her own performance at the beginning of the year and reflect on his or her performance throughout the year. This will also be used during the post-observation conference.

4. Pre-Observation Conference—Before the first formal observation, the evaluator shall meet with the school social worker to discuss the school social worker’s self-assessment based on the Rubric for Evaluating North Carolina School Social Workers, the school social worker’s most recent professional growth plan, and the session(s) or activity(ies) to be observed. The school social worker will provide the evaluator with a written description of the session(s). The goal of this conference is to prepare the evaluator for the observation. Pre-Observation conferences are not required for subsequent observations during the same school year.

5. Observations:
   a. Formal Observation—An observation of the school social worker engaged in a session with students and/or families or during leadership activities, training sessions, or meetings. This formal observation should last at least forty-five (45) minutes or the duration of the task being performed by the school social worker.

   b. Informal Observation—An informal observation may take place as an evaluator visits classrooms, helps a student, or “drops in” while a school social worker is counseling an individual student or conducting a group session.

6. Post-Observation Conference—During the post-observation conference, the evaluator and school social worker shall discuss and document on the rubric the strengths and weaknesses of the school social worker’s performance during the observed session/activity.

7. Summary Evaluation Conference and Summary Rating Form—The conference between the evaluator and school social worker to discuss the school social worker’s self-assessment, the school social worker’s most recent Professional Development Plan, the components of the North Carolina school social worker Evaluation Process completed during the year, classroom observations, artifacts submitted or collected during the evaluation process and other evidence of the school social worker’s performance on the rubric. At the conclusion of the process, the evaluator shall complete the School Social Worker Summary Rating Form.

8. Professional Development Plans – Every school social worker will use a Professional Development Plan to identify goals and strategies to improve performance.

9. Performance Rating Scale – The following rating scale will be used for determining the final evaluation rating for North Carolina school social workers:
   a. Developing: School social worker demonstrated adequate growth toward achieving standard(s) during the period of performance, but did not demonstrate competence on standard(s) of performance.
   b. Proficient: School social worker demonstrated basic competence on standard(s) of performance.
   c. Accomplished: School social worker exceeded basic competence on standard(s) of performance most of the time.
   d. Distinguished: School social worker consistently and significantly exceeded basic competence on standard(s) of performance.
   e. Not Demonstrated: School social worker did not demonstrate competence on or adequate growth toward achieving standard(s) of performance. (Note: If the “Not Demonstrated” rating is used, the Evaluator must comment about why it was used.)

Probationary School Social Workers – School social workers who have not yet been granted Career Status in their current North Carolina school district.

Rubric for Evaluating North Carolina School Social Workers – A composite matrix of the following standards, elements, and descriptors of the North Carolina Professional School Social Worker Standards:
   a. Performance Standard – The distinct aspect of school social work or realm of activities which form the basis for the evaluation of a school social worker.
   b. Performance Elements – The subcategories of performance embedded within the performance standard.
   c. Performance Descriptors – The specific performance responsibilities embedded within the components of each performance standard.

School Social Worker – A person who holds a valid North Carolina school social work certificate and is employed to provide social work services within North Carolina’s public school system.

School Executives – Principals and assistant principals licensed to work in North Carolina.
Self-assessment – Personal reflection about one’s professional practice to identify strengths and areas for improvement conducted without input from others. Purposes of the self-assessment are to clarify performance expectations, guide discussions about goal-setting and professional development and program needs, and provide input to the final ratings.

Training – State-approved and sponsored training on the school social work rubric and evaluation process required of all school social workers and individuals responsible for their evaluation.

Twenty-first Century content - Global awareness, financial, economic, business, and entrepreneurial literacy; civic literacy; and health and wellness awareness.

C. Signs a contract in good faith and does not abandon contracted professional duties without a substantive reason

D. Participates actively in professional decision-making process and supports the expression of professional opinions and judgments by colleagues in decision making processes or due process proceedings.

E. When acting in an administrative capacity:

   2. Evaluates the work of other educators using appropriate procedures and established statutes and regulations.

B. Takes action to remedy an observed violation of the Code of Ethics for North Carolina Educators and promotes understanding of the principles of professional ethics.

C. Pursues growth and development in the practice of the profession and uses that knowledge in improving the educational opportunities, experiences, and performance of students and colleagues.
Code of Professional Practice and Conduct for North Carolina Educators

The North Carolina State Board of Education (SBE) has adopted rules to establish uniform standards of professional conduct for licensed professional educators throughout the state. These rules have been incorporated into Title 16 of the North Carolina Administrative Code and have the effect of law. These rules shall be the basis for State Board of Education review of performance of professional educators and are binding on every person licensed by the State Board of Education. Violation of the standards shall subject an educator to investigation and possible disciplinary action by the State Board of Education or local school district.

SECTION .0600 - Code of Professional Practice and Conduct for North Carolina Educators
16 NCAC 6C.0601 –

The Purpose and Applicability of the Rules of Professional Conduct for Educators

The purpose of these rules is to establish and uphold uniform standards of professional conduct for licensed professional educators throughout the State. These rules shall be binding on every person licensed by the SBE, hereinafter referred to as “educator” or “professional educator,” and the possible consequences of any willful breach shall include license suspension or revocation. The prohibition of certain conduct in these rules shall not be interpreted as approval of conduct not specifically cited.

History Note: Authority G.S. 115C-295.3;

16 NCAC 6C.0602 - The Standards of Professional Conduct for NC Educators

The standards listed in this Section shall be generally accepted for the education profession and shall be the basis for State Board review of performance of professional educators. These standards shall establish mandatory prohibitions and requirements for educators. Violation of these standards shall subject an educator to investigation and disciplinary action by the SBE or LEA.

Professional educators shall adhere to the standards of professional conduct contained in this Rule. Any intentional act or omission that violates these standards is prohibited.

1. Generally recognized professional standards. The educator shall practice the professional standards of federal, state, and local governing bodies.

2. Personal conduct. The educator shall serve as a positive role model for students, parents, and the community. Because the educator is entrusted with the care and education of small children and adolescents, the educator shall demonstrate a high standard of personal character and conduct.

3. Honesty. The educator shall not engage in conduct involving dishonesty, fraud, deceit, or misrepresentation in the performance of professional duties including the following:
   a. Statement of professional qualifications;
   b. Application or recommendation for professional employment, promotion, or licensure;
   c. Application or recommendation for college or university admission, scholarship, grant, academic award, or similar benefit;
   d. Representation of completion of college or staff development credit;
   e. Evaluation or grading of students or personnel;
f. Submission of financial or program compliance reports submitted to state, federal, or other governmental agencies;
g. Submission of information in the course of an official inquiry by the employing LEA or the SBE related to facts of unprofessional conduct, provided, however, that an educator shall be given adequate notice of the allegations and may be represented by legal counsel; and
h. Submission of information in the course of an investigation by a law enforcement agency, child protective services, or any other agency with the right to investigate, regarding school-related criminal activity; provided, however, that an educator shall be entitled to decline to give evidence to law enforcement if such evidence may tend to incriminate the educator as that term is defined by the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

4. Proper remunerative conduct. The educator shall not solicit current students or parents of students to purchase equipment, supplies, or services from the educator in a private remunerative capacity. An educator shall not tutor for remuneration students currently assigned to the educator’s classes, unless approved by the local superintendent. An educator shall not accept any compensation, benefit, or thing of value other than the educator’s regular compensation for the performance of any service that the educator is required to render in the course and scope of the educator’s employment. This Rule shall not restrict performance of any overtime or supplemental services at the request of the LEA; nor shall it apply to or restrict the acceptance of gifts or tokens of minimal value offered and accepted openly from students, parents, or other persons in recognition or appreciation of service.

5. Conduct with students. The educator shall treat all students with respect. The educator shall not commit any abusive act or sexual exploitation with, to, or in the presence of a student, whether or not that student is or has been under the care or supervision of that educator, as defined below:
   a. Any use of language that is considered profane, vulgar, or demeaning;
   b. Any sexual act;
   c. Any solicitation of a sexual act, whether written, verbal, or physical;
   d. Any act of child abuse, as defined by law;
   e. Any act of sexual harassment, as defined by law; and
   f. Any intentional solicitation, encouragement, or consummation of a romantic or physical relationship with a student, or any sexual contact with a student. The term “romantic relationship” shall include dating any student.

6. Confidential information. The educator shall keep in confidence personally identifiable information regarding students or their family members that has been obtained in the course of professional service, unless disclosure is required or permitted by law or professional standards, or is necessary for the personal safety of the student or others.

7. Rights of others. The educator shall not willfully or maliciously violate the constitutional or civil rights of a student, parent/legal guardian, or colleague.

8. Required reports. The educator shall make all reports required by Chapter 115C of the North Carolina General Statutes.

9. Alcohol or controlled substance abuse. The educator shall not:
   a. Be under the influence of, possess, use, or consume on school premises or at a school-sponsored activity a controlled substance as defined by N.C. Gen. Stat./90-95, the Controlled Substances Act, without a prescription authorizing such use;
   b. Be under the influence of, possess, use, or consume an alcoholic beverage or a controlled substance on school premises or at a school-sponsored activity involving students; or
   c. Furnish alcohol or a controlled substance to any student except as indicated in the professional duties of administering legally prescribed medications.
   d. Compliance with criminal laws. The educator shall not commit any act referred to in G.S. 115C-332 and any felony under the laws of the United States or of any state.
10. Public funds and property. The educator shall not misuse public funds or property, funds of a school-related organization, or colleague’s funds. The educator shall account for funds collected from students, colleagues, or parents/legal guardians. The educator shall not submit fraudulent requests for reimbursement, expenses, or pay.

11. Scope of professional practice. The educator shall not perform any act as an employee in a position for which licensure is required by the rules of the SBE or by Chapter 115C or the North Carolina General Statutes during any period in which the educator’s license has been suspended or revoked.

12. Conduct related to ethical violations. The educator shall not directly or indirectly use or threaten to use any official authority or influence in any manner that tends to discourage, restrain, interfere with, coerce, or discriminate against any subordinate or any licensee who in good faith reports, discloses, divulges, or otherwise brings to the attention of an LEA, the SBE, or any other public agency authorized to take remedial action, any facts or information relative to actual or suspected violation of any law regulating the duties of persons serving in the public school system including but not limited to these Rules.

SECTION .0500 - ETHICAL GUIDELINES

.0501 PURPOSE AND SCOPE
(a) Ethical principles affecting the practice of social work are rooted in the basic values of society and the social work profession. The principal objective of the profession of social work is to enhance the dignity and well-being of each individual who seeks its services. It does so through the use of social work theory and intervention methods including case management, advocacy, community organization, administration, and psychotherapy.
(b) The primary goal of the Rules in this Section is to set forth principles to guide social workers' conduct in their profession. Violation of these Rules may be considered gross unprofessional conduct and may constitute dishonest practice or incompetence in the practice of social work. Such violations may result in disciplinary action by the Board.
(c) The Rules in this Section serve as a standard for social workers in their various professional roles, relationships and responsibilities. Social workers shall consider all the principles in the Rules in this Section that bear upon any situation in which ethical judgment is to be exercised, and shall select a course of action consistent with the Rules in this Section.
(d) Upon approval of certification or licensure, each applicant shall review the Rules in this Section and return a signed statement to the Board agreeing to abide by these Rules.

(f) Social workers shall not initiate, and shall avoid when possible, personal relationships or dual roles with current clients, or with any former clients whose feelings toward them may still be derived from or influenced by the former professional relationship. When a social worker may not avoid a personal relationship with a client, the social worker shall take appropriate precautions, such as documented discussion with the client about the relationship, consultation or supervision to ensure that the social worker’s objectivity and professional judgment are not impaired. Preamble
The primary mission of the social work profession is to enhance human wellbeing and help meet the basic human needs of all people, with particular attention to the needs and empowerment of people who are vulnerable, oppressed, and living in poverty. A historic and defining feature of social work is the profession’s focus on individual wellbeing in a social context and the wellbeing of society. Fundamental to social work is attention to the environmental forces that create, contribute to, and address problems in living.

Social workers promote social justice and social change with and on behalf of clients. “Clients” is used inclusively to refer to individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. Social workers are sensitive to cultural and ethnic diversity and strive to end discrimination, oppression, poverty, and other forms of social injustice. These activities may be in the form of direct practice, community organizing, supervision, consultation administration, advocacy, social and political action, policy development and implementation, education, and research and evaluation. Social workers seek to enhance the capacity of people to address their own needs. Social workers also seek to promote the responsiveness of organizations, communities, and other social institutions to individuals’ needs and social problems.

The mission of the social work profession is rooted in a set of core values. These core values, embraced by social workers throughout the profession’s history, are the foundation of social work’s unique purpose and perspective:

- service
- social justice
- dignity and worth of the person
- importance of human relationships
- integrity
- competence.

This constellation of core values reflects what is unique to the social work profession. Core values, and the principles that flow from them, must be balanced within the context and complexity of the human experience.

Purpose of the NASW Code of Ethics

Professional ethics are at the core of social work. The profession has an obligation to articulate its basic values, ethical principles, and ethical standards. The NASW Code of Ethics sets forth these values, principles, and standards to guide social workers’ conduct. The Code is relevant to all social workers and social work students, regardless of their professional functions, the settings in which they work, or the populations they serve.

The NASW Code of Ethics serves six purposes:

1. The Code identifies core values on which social work’s mission is based.
2. The Code summarizes broad ethical principles that reflect the profession’s core values and establishes a set of specific ethical standards that should be used to guide social work practice.
3. The Code is designed to help social workers identify relevant considerations when professional obligations conflict or ethical uncertainties arise.
4. The Code provides ethical standards to which the general public can hold the social work profession accountable.
5. The Code socializes practitioners new to the field to social work’s mission, values, ethical principles, and ethical standards.
6. The Code articulates standards that the social work profession itself can use to assess whether social workers have engaged in unethical conduct. NASW has formal procedures to adjudicate ethics complaints filed against its members.* In subscribing to this Code, social workers are required to cooperate in its implementation, participate in NASW adjudication proceedings, and abide by any NASW disciplinary rulings or sanctions based on it.

The Code offers a set of values, principles, and standards to guide decision making and conduct when ethical issues arise. It does not provide a set of rules that prescribe how social workers should act in all situations. Specific applications of the Code must take into account the context in which it is being considered and the possibility of conflicts among the Code’s values, principles, and standards. Ethical responsibilities flow from all human relationships, from the personal and familial to the social and professional.

Further, the NASW Code of Ethics does not specify which values, principles, and standards are most important and ought to outweigh others in instances when they conflict. Reasonable differences of opinion can and do exist among social workers with respect to the ways in which values, ethical principles, and ethical standards should be rank ordered when they conflict. Ethical decision making in a given situation must apply the informed judgment of the individual social worker and should also consider how the issues would be judged in a peer review process where the ethical standards of the profession would be applied.

Ethical decision making is a process. There are many instances in social work where simple answers are not available to resolve complex ethical issues. Social workers should take into consideration all the values, principles, and standards in this Code that are relevant to any situation in which ethical judgment is warranted. Social workers’ decisions and actions should be consistent with the spirit as well as the letter of this Code.

In addition to this Code, there are many other sources of information about ethical thinking that may be useful. Social workers should consider ethical theory and principles generally, social work theory and research, laws, regulations, agency policies, and other relevant codes of ethics, recognizing that among codes of ethics social workers should consider the NASW Code of Ethics as their primary source. Social workers also should be aware of the impact on ethical decision making of their clients’ and their own personal values and cultural and religious beliefs and practices. They should be aware of any conflicts between personal and professional values and deal with them responsibly. For additional guidance social workers should consult the relevant literature on professional ethics and ethical decision making and seek appropriate consultation when faced with ethical dilemmas. This may involve consultation with an agency-based or social work organization’s ethics committee, a regulatory body, knowledgeable colleagues, supervisors, or legal counsel.

Instances may arise when social workers’ ethical obligations conflict with agency policies or relevant laws or regulations. When such conflicts occur, social workers must make a responsible effort to resolve the conflict in a manner that is consistent with the values, principles, and standards expressed in this Code. If a reasonable resolution of the conflict does not appear possible, social workers should seek proper consultation before making a decision. The NASW Code of Ethics is to be used by NASW and by individuals, agencies, organizations, and bodies (such as licensing and regulatory boards, professional liability insurance providers, courts of law, agency boards of directors, government agencies, and other professional groups) that choose to adopt it or use it as a frame of reference. Violation of standards in this Code does not automatically imply legal liability or violation of the law. Such determination can only be made in the context of legal and judicial proceedings. Alleged violations of the Code would be subject to a peer review process. Such processes are generally separate from legal or administrative procedures and insulated from legal review or proceedings to allow the profession to counsel and discipline its own members.

A code of ethics cannot guarantee ethical behavior. Moreover, a code of ethics cannot resolve all ethical issues or disputes or capture the richness and complexity involved in striving to make responsible choices within a moral community. Rather, a code of ethics sets forth values, ethical principles, and ethical standards to which professionals aspire and by which their actions can be judged. Social workers’ ethical behavior should result from their personal commitment to engage in ethical practice. The NASW Code of Ethics reflects the commitment of all social workers to uphold the profession’s values and to act ethically. Principles and standards must be applied by individuals of good character who discern moral questions and, in good faith, seek to make reliable ethical judgments.

Ethical Principles

The following broad ethical principles are based on social work’s core values of service, social justice, dignity and worth of the person, importance of human relationships, integrity, and competence. These principles set forth ideals to which all social workers should aspire.

Value: Service

Ethical Principle: Social workers’ primary goal is to help people in need and to address social problems.

Social workers elevate service to others above selfinterest. Social workers draw on their knowledge, values, and skills to help people in need and to address social problems. Social workers are encouraged to volunteer some portion of their professional skills with no expectation of significant financial return (pro bono service).

Value: Social Justice

Ethical Principle: Social workers challenge social injustice.

Social workers pursue social change, particularly with and on behalf of vulnerable and oppressed individuals and groups of people. Social workers’ social change efforts are focused primarily on issues of poverty, unemployment, discrimination, and other forms of social injustice. These activities seek to promote sensitivity to and knowledge about oppression and cultural and ethnic diversity. Social workers strive to ensure access to needed information, services, and resources; equality of opportunity; and meaningful participation in decision making for all people.

Value: Dignity and Worth of the Person

Ethical Principle: Social workers respect the inherent dignity and worth of the person.

Social workers treat each person in a caring and respectful fashion, mindful of individual differences and cultural and ethnic diversity. Social workers promote clients’ socially responsible self determination. Social workers seek to enhance clients’ capacity and opportunity to change and to address their own needs. Social workers are cognizant of their dual responsibility to clients and to the broader society. They seek to resolve conflicts between clients’ interests and the broader society’s interests in a socially responsible manner consistent with the values, ethical principles, and ethical standards of the profession.

Value: Importance of Human Relationships
Ethical Principle: Social workers recognize the central importance of human relationships. Social workers understand that relationships between and among people are an important vehicle for change. Social workers engage people as partners in the helping process. Social workers seek to strengthen relationships among people in a purposeful effort to promote, restore, maintain, and enhance the wellbeing of individuals, families, social groups, organizations, and communities.

Value: Integrity

Ethical Principle: Social workers behave in a trustworthy manner. Social workers are continually aware of the profession’s mission, values, ethical principles, and ethical standards and practice in a manner consistent with them. Social workers act honestly and responsibly and promote ethical practices on the part of the organizations with which they are affiliated.

Value: Competence

Ethical Principle: Social workers practice within their areas of competence and develop and enhance their professional expertise. Social workers continually strive to increase their professional knowledge and skills and to apply them in practice. Social workers should aspire to contribute to the knowledge base of the profession.

Ethical Standards
The following ethical standards are relevant to the professional activities of all social workers. These standards concern (1) social workers’ ethical responsibilities to clients, (2) social workers’ ethical responsibilities to colleagues, (3) social workers’ ethical responsibilities in practice settings, (4) social workers’ ethical responsibilities as professionals, (5) social workers’ ethical responsibilities to the social work profession, and (6) social workers’ ethical responsibilities to the broader society.

Some of the standards that follow are enforceable guidelines for professional conduct, and some are aspirational. The extent to which each standard is enforceable is a matter of professional judgment to be exercised by those responsible for reviewing alleged violations of ethical standards.

1. SOCIAL WORKERS’ ETHICAL RESPONSIBILITIES TO CLIENTS

1.01 Commitment to Clients
Social workers’ primary responsibility is to promote the wellbeing of clients. In general, clients’ interests are primary. However, social workers’ responsibility to the larger society or specific legal obligations may on limited occasions supersede the loyalty owed clients, and clients should be so advised. (Examples include when a social worker is required by law to report that a client has abused a child or has threatened to harm self or others.)

1.02 Self-Determination
Social workers respect and promote the right of clients to self-determination and assist clients in their efforts to identify and clarify their goals. Social workers may limit clients’ right to self-determination when, in the social workers’ professional judgment, clients’ actions or potential actions pose a serious, foreseeable, and imminent risk to themselves or others.

1.03 Informed Consent
(a) Social workers should provide services to clients only in the context of a professional relationship based, when appropriate, on valid informed consent. Social workers should use clear and understandable language to inform clients of the purpose of the services, risks related to the services, limits to services because of the requirements of a third-party payer, relevant costs, reasonable alternatives, clients’ right to refuse or withdraw consent, and the time frame covered by the consent. Social workers should provide clients with an opportunity to ask questions.
(b) In instances when clients are not literate or have difficulty understanding the primary language used in the practice setting, social workers should take steps to ensure clients’ comprehension. This may include providing clients with a detailed verbal explanation or arranging for a qualified interpreter or translator whenever possible.
(c) In instances when clients lack the capacity to provide informed consent, social workers should protect clients’ interests by seeking permission from an appropriate third party, informing clients consistent with the clients’ level of understanding. In such instances social workers should seek to ensure that the third party acts in a manner consistent with clients’ wishes and interests. Social workers should take reasonable steps to enhance such clients’ ability to give informed consent.
(d) In instances when clients are receiving services involuntarily, social workers should provide information about the nature and extent of services and about the extent of clients’ right to refuse service.
(e) Social workers who provide services via electronic media (such as computer, telephone, radio, and television) should inform recipients of the limitations and risks associated with such services.
(f) Social workers should obtain clients’ informed consent before audiotaping or videotaping clients or permitting observation of services to clients by a third party.

1.04 Competence
(a) Social workers should provide services and represent themselves as competent only within the boundaries of their education, training, license, certification, consultation received, supervised experience, or other relevant professional experience.
(b) Social workers should provide services in substantive areas or use intervention techniques or approaches that are new to them only after engaging in appropriate study, training, consultation, and supervision from people who are competent in those interventions or techniques.
(c) When generally recognized standards do not exist with respect to an emerging area of practice, social workers should exercise careful judgment and take responsible steps (including appropriate education, research, training, consultation, and supervision) to ensure the competence of their work and to protect clients from harm.

1.05 Cultural Competence and Social Diversity
(a) Social workers should understand culture and its function in human behavior and society, recognizing the strengths that exist in all cultures.
(b) Social workers should have a knowledge base of their clients’ cultures and be able to demonstrate competence in the provision of services that are sensitive to clients’ cultures and to differences among people and cultural groups.
Social workers should obtain education about and seek to understand the nature of social diversity and oppression with respect to race, ethnicity, national origin, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, marital status, political belief, religion, immigration status, and mental or physical disability.

1.06 Conflicts of Interest
(a) Social workers should be alert to and avoid conflicts of interest that interfere with the exercise of professional discretion and impartial judgment. Social workers should inform clients when a real or potential conflict of interest arises and take reasonable steps to resolve the issue in a manner that makes the clients’ interests primary and protects clients’ interests to the greatest extent possible. In some cases, protecting clients’ interests may require termination of the professional relationship with proper referral of the client.
(b) Social workers should not take unfair advantage of any professional relationship or exploit others to further their personal, religious, political, or business interests.
(c) Social workers should not engage in dual or multiple relationships with clients or former clients in which there is a risk of exploitation or potential harm to the client. In instances when dual or multiple relationships are unavoidable, social workers should take steps to protect clients and are responsible for setting clear, appropriate, and culturally sensitive boundaries. (Dual or multiple relationships occur when social workers relate to clients in more than one relationship, whether professional, social, or business. Dual or multiple relationships can occur simultaneously or consecutively.)
(d) When social workers provide services to two or more people who have a relationship with each other (for example, couples, family members), social workers should clarify with all parties which individuals will be considered clients and the nature of social workers’ professional obligations to the various individuals who are receiving services. Social workers who anticipate a conflict of interest among the individuals receiving services or who anticipate having to perform in potentially conflicting roles (for example, when a social worker is asked to testify in a child custody dispute or divorce proceedings involving clients) should clarify their role with the parties involved and take appropriate action to minimize any conflict of interest.

1.07 Privacy and Confidentiality
(a) Social workers should respect clients’ right to privacy. Social workers should not solicit private information from clients unless it is essential to providing services or conducting social work evaluation or research. Once private information is shared, standards of confidentiality apply.
(b) Social workers may disclose confidential information when appropriate with valid consent from a client or a person legally authorized to consent on behalf of a client.
(c) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of all information obtained in the course of professional service, except for compelling professional reasons. The general expectation that social workers will keep information confidential does not apply when disclosure is necessary to prevent serious, foreseeable, and imminent harm to a client or other identifiable person. In all instances, social workers should disclose the least amount of confidential information necessary to achieve the desired purpose; only information that is directly relevant to the purpose for which the disclosure is made should be revealed.
(d) Social workers should inform clients, to the extent possible, about the disclosure of confidential information and the potential consequences, when feasible before the disclosure is made. This applies whether social workers disclose confidential information on the basis of a legal requirement or client consent.
(e) Social workers should discuss with clients and other interested parties the nature of confidentiality and limitations of clients’ right to confidentiality. Social workers should review with clients circumstances where confidential information may be requested and where disclosure of confidential information may be legally required. This discussion should occur as soon as possible in the social worker-client relationship and as needed throughout the course of the relationship.

(f) When social workers provide counseling services to families, couples, or groups, social workers should seek agreement among the parties involved concerning each individual’s right to confidentiality and obligation to preserve the confidentiality of information shared by others. Social workers should inform participants in family, couples, or group counseling that social workers cannot guarantee that all participants will honor such agreements.

(g) Social workers should inform clients involved in family, couples, marital, or group counseling of the social worker’s, employer’s, and agency’s policy concerning the social worker’s disclosure of confidential information among the parties involved in the counseling.

(h) Social workers should not disclose confidential information to thirdparty payers unless clients have authorized such disclosure.

(i) Social workers should not discuss confidential information in any setting unless privacy can be ensured. Social workers should not discuss confidential information in public or semipublic areas such as hallways, waiting rooms, elevators, and restaurants.

(j) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of clients during legal proceedings to the extent permitted by law. When a court of law or other legally authorized body orders social workers to disclose confidential or privileged information without a client’s consent and such disclosure could cause harm to the client, social workers should request that the court withdraw the order or limit the order as narrowly as possible or maintain the records under seal, unavailable for public inspection.

(k) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of clients when responding to requests from members of the media.

(l) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of clients’ written and electronic records and other sensitive information. Social workers should take reasonable steps to ensure that clients’ records are stored in a secure location and that clients’ records are not available to others who are not authorized to have access.

(m) Social workers should take precautions to ensure and maintain the confidentiality of information transmitted to other parties through the use of computers, electronic mail, facsimile machines, telephones and telephone answering machines, and other electronic or computer technology. Disclosure of identifying information should be avoided whenever possible.

(n) Social workers should transfer or dispose of clients’ records in a manner that protects clients’ confidentiality and is consistent with state statutes governing records and social work licensure.

(o) Social workers should take reasonable precautions to protect client confidentiality in the event of the social worker’s termination of practice, incapacitation, or death.

(p) Social workers should not disclose identifying information when discussing clients for teaching or training purposes unless the client has consented to disclosure of confidential information.

(q) Social workers should not disclose identifying information when discussing clients with consultants unless the client has consented to disclosure of confidential information or there is a compelling need for such disclosure.

(r) Social workers should protect the confidentiality of deceased clients consistent with the preceding standards.
1.08 Access to Records
(a) Social workers should provide clients with reasonable access to records concerning the clients. Social workers who are concerned that clients’ access to their records could cause serious misunderstanding or harm to the client should provide assistance in interpreting the records and consultation with the client regarding the records. Social workers should limit clients’ access to their records, or portions of their records, only in exceptional circumstances when there is compelling evidence that such access would cause serious harm to the client. Both clients’ requests and the rationale for withholding some or all of the record should be documented in clients’ files.
(b) When providing clients with access to their records, social workers should take steps to protect the confidentiality of other individuals identified or discussed in such records.

1.09 Sexual Relationships
(a) Social workers should under no circumstances engage in sexual activities or sexual contact with current clients, whether such contact is consensual or forced.
(b) Social workers should not engage in sexual activities or sexual contact with clients’ relatives or other individuals with whom clients maintain a close personal relationship when there is a risk of exploitation or potential harm to the client. Sexual activity or sexual contact with clients’ relatives or other individuals with whom clients maintain a personal relationship has the potential to be harmful to the client and may make it difficult for the social worker and client to maintain appropriate professional boundaries. Social workers—not their clients, their clients’ relatives, or other individuals with whom the client maintains a personal relationship—assume the full burden for setting clear, appropriate, and culturally sensitive boundaries.
(c) Social workers should not engage in sexual activities or sexual contact with former clients because of the potential for harm to the client. If social workers engage in conduct contrary to this prohibition or claim that an exception to this prohibition is warranted because of extraordinary circumstances, it is social workers—not their clients—who assume the full burden of demonstrating that the former client has not been exploited, coerced, or manipulated, intentionally or unintentionally.
(d) Social workers should not provide clinical services to individuals with whom they have had a prior sexual relationship. Providing clinical services to a former sexual partner has the potential to be harmful to the individual and is likely to make it difficult for the social worker and individual to maintain appropriate professional boundaries.

1.10 Physical Contact
Social workers should not engage in physical contact with clients when there is a possibility of psychological harm to the client as a result of the contact (such as cradling or caressing clients). Social workers who engage in appropriate physical contact with clients are responsible for setting clear, appropriate, and culturally sensitive boundaries that govern such physical contact.

1.11 Sexual Harassment
Social workers should not sexually harass clients. Sexual harassment includes sexual advances, sexual solicitation, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature.
1.12 Derogatory Language
Social workers should not use derogatory language in their written or verbal communications to or about clients. Social workers should use accurate and respectful language in all communications to and about clients.

1.13 Payment for Services
(a) When setting fees, social workers should ensure that the fees are fair, reasonable, and commensurate with the services performed. Consideration should be given to clients’ ability to pay.
(b) Social workers should avoid accepting goods or services from clients as payment for professional services. Bartering arrangements, particularly involving services, create the potential for conflicts of interest, exploitation, and inappropriate boundaries in social workers’ relationships with clients. Social workers should explore and may participate in bartering only in very limited circumstances when it can be demonstrated that such arrangements are an accepted practice among professionals in the local community, considered to be essential for the provision of services, negotiated without coercion, and entered into at the client’s initiative and with the client’s informed consent. Social workers who accept goods or services from clients as payment for professional services assume the full burden of demonstrating that this arrangement will not be detrimental to the client or the professional relationship.
(c) Social workers should not solicit a private fee or other remuneration for providing services to clients who are entitled to such available services through the social workers’ employer or agency.

1.14 Clients Who Lack Decision-Making Capacity
When social workers act on behalf of clients who lack the capacity to make informed decisions, social workers should take reasonable steps to safeguard the interests and rights of those clients.

1.15 Interruption of Services
Social workers should make reasonable efforts to ensure continuity of services in the event that services are interrupted by factors such as unavailability, relocation, illness, disability, or death.

1.16 Termination of Services
(a) Social workers should terminate services to clients and professional relationships with them when such services and relationships are no longer required or no longer serve the clients’ needs or interests.
(b) Social workers should take reasonable steps to avoid abandoning clients who are still in need of services. Social workers should withdraw services precipitously only under unusual circumstances, giving careful consideration to all factors in the situation and taking care to minimize possible adverse effects. Social workers should assist in making appropriate arrangements for continuation of services when necessary.
(c) Social workers in fee-for-service settings may terminate services to clients who are not paying an overdue balance if the financial contractual arrangements have been made clear to the client, if the client does not pose an imminent danger to self or others, and if the clinical and other consequences of the current nonpayment have been addressed and discussed with the client.
(d) Social workers should not terminate services to pursue a social, financial, or sexual relationship with a client.
(e) Social workers who anticipate the termination or interruption of services to clients should notify clients promptly and seek the transfer, referral, or continuation of services in relation to the clients’ needs and preferences.
(f) Social workers who are leaving an employment setting should inform clients of appropriate options for the continuation of services and of the benefits and risks of the options.

2. SOCIAL WORKERS’ ETHICAL RESPONSIBILITIES TO COLLEAGUES

2.01 Respect
(a) Social workers should treat colleagues with respect and should represent accurately and fairly the qualifications, views, and obligations of colleagues.

(b) Social workers should avoid unwarranted negative criticism of colleagues in communications with clients or with other professionals. Unwarranted negative criticism may include demeaning comments that refer to colleagues’ level of competence or to individuals’ attributes such as race, ethnicity, national origin, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, marital status, political belief, religion, immigration status, and mental or physical disability.

(c) Social workers should cooperate with social work colleagues and with colleagues of other professions when such cooperation serves the wellbeing of clients.

2.02 Confidentiality
Social workers should respect confidential information shared by colleagues in the course of their professional relationships and transactions. Social workers should ensure that such colleagues understand social workers’ obligation to respect confidentiality and any exceptions related to it.

2.03 Interdisciplinary Collaboration
(a) Social workers who are members of an interdisciplinary team should participate in and contribute to decisions that affect the wellbeing of clients by drawing on the perspectives, values, and experiences of the social work profession. Professional and ethical obligations of the interdisciplinary team as a whole and of its individual members should be clearly established.
(b) Social workers for whom a team decision raises ethical concerns should attempt to resolve the disagreement through appropriate channels. If the disagreement cannot be resolved, social workers should pursue other avenues to address their concerns consistent with client wellbeing.

2.04 Disputes Involving Colleagues
(a) Social workers should not take advantage of a dispute between a colleague and an employer to obtain a position or otherwise advance the social workers’ own interests.
(b) Social workers should not exploit clients in disputes with colleagues or engage clients in any inappropriate discussion of conflicts between social workers and their colleagues.

2.05 Consultation
(a) Social workers should seek the advice and counsel of colleagues whenever such consultation is in the best interests of clients.
(b) Social workers should keep themselves informed about colleagues’ areas of expertise and competencies. Social workers should seek consultation only from colleagues who have demonstrated knowledge, expertise, and competence related to the subject of the consultation.
(c) When consulting with colleagues about clients, social workers should disclose the least amount of information necessary to achieve the purposes of the consultation.

2.06 Referral for Services
(a) Social workers should refer clients to other professionals when the other professionals’ specialized knowledge or expertise is needed to serve clients fully or when social workers believe that they are not being effective or making reasonable progress with clients and that additional service is required.
(b) Social workers who refer clients to other professionals should take appropriate steps to facilitate an orderly transfer of responsibility. Social workers who refer clients to other professionals should disclose, with clients’ consent, all pertinent information to the new service providers.
(c) Social workers are prohibited from giving or receiving payment for a referral when no professional service is provided by the referring social worker.

2.07 Sexual Relationships
(a) Social workers who function as supervisors or educators should not engage in sexual activities or contact with supervisees, students, trainees, or other colleagues over whom they exercise professional authority.
(b) Social workers should avoid engaging in sexual relationships with colleagues when there is potential for a conflict of interest. Social workers who become involved in, or anticipate becoming involved in, a sexual relationship with a colleague have a duty to transfer professional responsibilities, when necessary, to avoid a conflict of interest.

2.08 Sexual Harassment
Social workers should not sexually harass supervisees, students, trainees, or colleagues. Sexual harassment includes sexual advances, sexual solicitation, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature.

2.09 Impairment of Colleagues
(a) Social workers who have direct knowledge of a social work colleague’s impairment that is due to personal problems, psychosocial distress, substance abuse, or mental health difficulties and that interferes with practice effectiveness should consult with that colleague when feasible and assist the colleague in taking remedial action.
(b) Social workers who believe that a social work colleague’s impairment interferes with practice effectiveness and that the colleague has not taken adequate steps to address the impairment should take action through appropriate channels established by employers, agencies, NASW, licensing and regulatory bodies, and other professional organizations.

2.10 Incompetence of Colleagues
(a) Social workers who have direct knowledge of a social work colleague’s incompetence should consult with that colleague when feasible and assist the colleague in taking remedial action.
(b) Social workers who believe that a social work colleague is incompetent and has not taken adequate steps to address the incompetence should take action through appropriate channels established by employers, agencies, NASW, licensing and regulatory bodies, and other professional organizations.
2.11 Unethical Conduct of Colleagues
(a) Social workers should take adequate measures to discourage, prevent, expose, and correct the unethical conduct of colleagues.
(b) Social workers should be knowledgeable about established policies and procedures for handling concerns about colleagues’ unethical behavior. Social workers should be familiar with national, state, and local procedures for handling ethics complaints. These include policies and procedures created by NASW, licensing and regulatory bodies, employers, agencies, and other professional organizations.
(c) Social workers who believe that a colleague has acted unethically should seek resolution by discussing their concerns with the colleague when feasible and when such discussion is likely to be productive.
(d) When necessary, social workers who believe that a colleague has acted unethically should take action through appropriate formal channels (such as contacting a state licensing board or regulatory body, an NASW committee on inquiry, or other professional ethics committees).
(e) Social workers should defend and assist colleagues who are unjustly charged with unethical conduct.

(c) Social workers’ documentation should protect clients’ privacy to the extent that is possible and appropriate and should include only information that is directly relevant to the delivery of services.
(d) Social workers should store records following the termination of services to ensure reasonable future access. Records should be maintained for the number of years required by state statutes or relevant contracts.

3.05 Billing
Social workers should establish and maintain billing practices that accurately reflect the nature and extent of services provided and that identify who provided the service in the practice setting.

3.06 Client Transfer
(a) When an individual who is receiving services from another agency or colleague contacts a social worker for services, the social worker should carefully consider the client’s needs before agreeing to provide services. To minimize possible confusion and conflict, social workers should discuss with potential clients the nature of the clients’ current relationship with other service providers and the implications, including possible benefits or risks, of entering into a relationship with a new service provider.
(b) If a new client has been served by another agency or colleague, social workers should discuss with the client whether consultation with the previous service provider is in the client’s best interest.

3.07 Administration
(a) Social work administrators should advocate within and outside their agencies for adequate resources to meet clients’ needs.
(b) Social workers should advocate for resource allocation procedures that are open and fair. When not all clients’ needs can be met, an allocation procedure should be developed that is nondiscriminatory and based on appropriate and consistently applied principles.
(c) Social workers who are administrators should take reasonable steps to ensure that adequate agency or organizational resources are available to provide appropriate staff supervision.
(d) Social work administrators should take reasonable steps to ensure that the working environment for which they are responsible is consistent with and encourages compliance with the NASW Code of Ethics. Social work administrators should take reasonable steps to eliminate any conditions in their organizations that violate, interfere with, or discourage compliance with the Code.

in labor unions, to improve services to clients and working conditions.
(b) The actions of social workers who are involved in labor-management disputes, job actions, or labor strikes should be guided by the profession’s values, ethical principles, and ethical standards. Reasonable differences of opinion exist among social workers concerning their primary obligation as professionals during an actual or threatened labor strike or job action.

Informed consent should include information about the nature, extent, and duration of the participation requested and disclosure of the risks and benefits of participation in the research.
(f) When evaluation or research participants are incapable of giving informed consent, social workers should provide an appropriate explanation to the participants, obtain the participants’ assent to the extent they are able, and obtain written consent from an appropriate proxy.
(g) Social workers should never design or conduct evaluation or research that does not use consent procedures, such as certain forms of naturalistic observation and archival research, unless rigorous and responsible review of the research has found it to be justified because of its prospective scientific, educational, or applied value and unless equally effective alternative procedures that do not involve waiver of consent are not feasible.
(h) Social workers should inform participants of their right to withdraw from evaluation and research at any time without penalty.
(i) Social workers should take appropriate steps to ensure that participants in evaluation and research have access to appropriate supportive services.
(j) Social workers engaged in evaluation or research should protect participants from unwarranted physical or mental distress, harm, danger, or deprivation.
(k) Social workers engaged in the evaluation of services should discuss collected information only for professional purposes and only with people professionally concerned with this information.
